

Telemarketing is increasingly intrusive on our lives. Their computers begin calling us at 8am on any day, even Sunday..not even a person..a computer. I ask my name to be removed from their list, but all businesses, ex. banks, insurance, phone companies (services we must have) feel it is perfectly ok to give away and/or sell my phone number to others, who then sell it to more telemarketing companies. There is no recourse to these relentless attacks. Please approve a "Do No Call List" for those of us who are frustrated by constant barrage of unwanted solicitors.
